STATES IN THE BROOME STREET BAPTIST CRUBCH—ADDRESS OF THE REV. MR. NOTT—AF-PECTING SCENE, ETC. The funeral services of the late Rev. Frederick Crowe, e sufferings in San Miguel, San Salvador, Panami and subsequent death in this city, we recorded in Saturand yesterday's HERALD, took place yester-in the First Baptist church, corner of Broome Elizabeth streets. The commodious church early filled by members of the American Bible citizens and strangers, who took a deep inerest in the services, and frequently evinced their sympathy by copious tears when allusion was made to ent which the deceased had received in Span sh America. There was a large attendance of the clergy, among whom were the Rev. Messrs. Nott, Hall, Baker, Barles, Remington, &c., &c. The remains were placed in ecemed, with his widow, occupied seats near the coffin. The services opened with a short address from the Rev. Mr. Notr, after which a portion of the Scripturos were read. The 6e2d hymn, commencing—

"Why do we mourn departed friends?"

was then sung by the congregation; after which The Rev. Mr. Norr, who was deeply affected, proceeded to address the assemblage. Us commenced by sainting that they had seet there for the purpose of burying a martyr. He thought that the martyrs had been buried before his day, and be did not suppose that help had be did not suppose that he had the should ever be called upon, or the soil of his own free country, to make an address over the berly of a martyr. That thought oppressed him and absorbed almost every other. He scarco ly had patience to deedl upon the loss which the church had sustained, because every other centideration was swallowed up in the one thought—that the looked upon a martyr. Stiff the became him to turn away from such considerations, and, as they were strangers, to tell them who and what he was who now lay to death before them, and what he was who now lay to death before them, and what he was who now lay to death before them, and what he was that had brought him there. The Rev. Frederick Crowo was the son of a Bruish subject, and was born in Beighum. His father ster-wards removed to Bordeaux, in France, when the see proceeded to Spanish America, but stand at Belize, in the province of Honduras, and instead of returning to his native lead, be there gave an interesting account of the deceased's travels in Spanish America, but shaded at Belize, in the province of Honduras, and instead of the one-cessity of a wide circulation of the Scriptures, and though the whole the one of the province of the deceased the work of the Gospel. The reverend gentlemas here gave an interesting a face of the commendation of the Scriptures, and thing that the only versions accessible were very defective, the lev. F. After some further appropriate remarks, the Rev. Mr. Ranasoros offered up a fervent prayer, when he asoth hymn, commencing
"Give me the wings of faith to rise,"

The benediction was then given.
Rev. Mr. Norr then informed the congregation that they could view the face of the deceased, and hundreds availed themselves of the opportunity; after which the body was removed, and, followed by a large number of carriages, was conveyed to Greenwood Cemetery.
It was stated that a collection will be taken up next Sabbath for the benefit of the widow in the First Baptist church.

A few hours later the bills was returned by "the bearer" as worthless. The whole package was then examined and found to consist entirely of bills on the New England Bank. The police were then caited in, and Cheeghtil was arrested and taken before Justice Keily, to whom he staded that he had received them from Mr. Whece, broker, at 14 Wall street, in payment for twenty awa serve of Western land. Central America. Mr. T. F. Meagher delivered the first part of his narrative of a visit to Central America at Niblo's saloon last night, to a very large and intellectual audience. It is General Pacz, of Venezuela, who has been recently so homorably recalled to his native, ecuntry, after years of exile, visited Central America in the early part of this year, with a view to ebtain imformation about that highly interesting country. Mr. Meagher devoted bieself during that visit to acquiring a knowledge of the country, its institutions, statistics, and the social habits of its people, while Mr. Paëz, being an accomplished draughtsman, made sketches of the leading features of its most picturesque scepery. These sketches have been reproduced by Mr. Joseph Kyle in the highest style of scenic art, on a osque scenery. These sketches have been reproduced by Mr. Joseph Kyle in the highest style of scenic art, en a large scale, in the fashion of a panorama, and the narrestive, told in Mr. Meagher's most brilliant and fascenating manner, illustrated by the fine pictures of Mr. Kyle, comprised the entertainment of last night. To those who have heard Mr. Meagher's lectures, or are acquainted with his wonderful rhetorical powers, it is unnecessary to say that the descriptive portions of the narrestive, teaching the gorgeous scenery of the tropics, so admirably illustrating the paintings, was spiendidly given. But this, perhaps, though the most delightful, wes not the most instructive part of the country on which the lecturer dwelt, were very valuable at a time when Central America occupies so large a space in the public attential America occupies so large a space in the public attential America occupies so large a space in the public attential America occupies so large a space in the public attential America occupies so large a space in the public attential America occupies so large a space in the public attential America occupies so large a space in the public attential America. On the whole, it was one of the most satisfactory entertainments we have heard for a long time—quite a novelty from the union of high literary and artistic power engaged in it, and extremely valuable as a contribution to a nuch sought for knowledge of the affairs of Central America. Mr. Meagher will repeat this first part of his narrative to night and through the present week. Next week he will give the second portion, with new lilustrations.

 87,306,309 87,317,942 past month. The smallness of the decline in specie is to be ascribed partly to the drafts upon New England and Pennsylvania for gold, and partly to the free depletion of the Sub-Treasury, which lost some $900,000 during the week. It is likely that the banks begin business this week with a declining average; but a California steamer is due in a day or two with a million and a half, and this, considering the low rate at which European exchange is rolling, and the probability that no further large shipments of specie will be sent to the South, may possibly raise our bank reserve to the portance was attached in Wall street to the late movement in specie. Had four or five millions more been shipped, the commerce of the country would have been all the better for it, and money would have been no dearer in Wall street. The continual increase in the loans is by no means a satisfactory feature of the late bank statements. If, during the highly excited commercial fever of 1866-57, the enormous trade then done at this port could be carried on with only $110,000,000 a $116,000,000 of accommodation from the banks, how can those banks, at a period of universal stagnation like the present, run up a discount line of nearly $127,000,000 without filling their trunks with very doubtful securities and nursing losses for the day to come?

The day has been a dull one in the stock market; the commission brokers are again complaining of having nothing to do. A damper has been thrown on the spirits of speculators by the wretched receipts of the Western railways, and people seem to have come to the conclusion that as during the winter these receipts cannot well im-prove, there will be no dividends paid out of earnings until after spring business. The usual struggle between the buil and bear brokers at the board is being carried on but the public are mere spectators of the contest, and seem to feel no desire to participate on one side or the other. Perhaps, after the first January, when the divi dends are paid, should the prices of the leading specula tive stocks have fallen considerably in the meantime it may be possible to galvanize fresh spirit into th market, and to stimulate a fresh rise; at present the indi-cations are in favor of a further fall. The business in State stocks to-day was very light indeed; Missouris closa shade higher than on Saturday, but transactions are very limited. In the bond market the chief business done was n land grants, which were about 1 per cent better, each decline bringing in fresh buyers. Bank stocks were quiet prices rather favoring buyers. The most active of the speculative stocks was Galena, which closed this afternoon 114 per cent higher than on Saturday, the friends of th road having made a determined rally to its support. The other Western roads were dull: Bock Island at an advance of 14; Southern Michigan (guaranteed), at an advance 34: Michigan Central and Illinois Central both at a sma decline. Eric and New York Central were both dull thi morning. In the afternoon a resolute effort was made to raise the price, and they closed about M better than yes erday. General dissatisfaction is expressed at the ne appearance of the Central earnings. Several non-official stalements of the September earnings have been made but, though it is now the 8th of November, th official report has not yet been published. What is the public to infer? Panama was steady to day; but Pacificable took a lurch this afternoon and fell of nearly two per ent. The movements of this stock are so eccentric, and the prospects of the line so obfuscated by the successful establishment of its Nicaragua rival-to say nothing of probable opposition from the Commodore himself—that a movement of six or eight per cent say day would be no unnatural event. The closing prices of the day were: Missouris, 59% a %; Pacific Mail, 104% a 105; New York Central, 83% a 84; Frie, 16% a 17; Hudson, 31 a 32; Read ing, 51 % a 36; Michigan Central, 54 % a 55; Southern pre forred, 53 a M; Panasca, 119 a M; Ellinois Central, 83% a just so soon as the season for contamption arrives, and still expecting the regular retailer and even the jobber to continue their custom they cannot believe either in the interKROESSITY, JUSTICK OR POLICY
